GIFT ACCEPTANCE AND DISCLOSURE

COUNTY PROPERTY APPRAISER ACCEPTING PROCEEDS OF A CHARITABLE AUCTION

To: Loren Levy, Attorney (Tallahassee)

SUMMARY:

A reporting individual may accept monetary gifts that are given to him via an auction. To properly disclose acceptance of these gifts on a Form 9, the reporting individual must separately report each individual monetary donation using the amount of the winning bid as the value of the gift, and list both the donor of the auctioned item, as well as the winning bidder, as the donors of the gift on his or her Form 9. Referenced are CEOs 06-27 and 24-5.

QUESTION 1:

May a County Property Appraiser accept the proceeds of a charitable auction for his benefit, and, if so, how should the gift be disclosed?

This question is answered as follows.

You are an attorney who has requested an ethics opinion on behalf of your client, a County Property Appraiser. As a County Property Appraiser, your client is a reporting individual who must file an annual CE Form 6, "Full and Public Disclosure of Financial Interests."

In your ethics inquiry, you indicate that your client, his wife, and his two teenage daughters recently traveled from Florida to Texas to participate in a junior livestock show. You state that as the family traveled home after the show, they were involved in a tragic motor vehicle accident. You relate that the accident resulted in significant physical injuries to your client and his family. Additionally, you note that your client's truck and livestock trailer were totaled, and the livestock had to be euthanized.

You indicate that participants in the livestock show circuit are a close-knit community and that news of the accident traveled quickly. Within a few days of the accident, you state that your client became aware that an acquaintance of his had set up an auction site whereby individuals could donate items for bidding and/or bid on those items, and that the proceeds of the auction were intended to help offset the costs and expenses caused by the accident.¹ You indicate that the individual who set up the auction site is from Polk County, and his daughter also participates in livestock shows. You note that the auction website was live for approximately one week, and ultimately $101,590 was raised for your client. You state that your client was given a list of the following items: the items donated, the name and contact information of those who donated the items for auction, the name and contact information of those who bought the items, and the auction price (winning bid) of each item. You note that the auction included six "anonymous" winning bids, however, none of those bids exceeded $100. According to your client, none of the individuals on the list appear to be lobbyists or vendors of his office, although two of the individuals who donated are property owners in his County.

You state that your client did not solicit these donations and that he did not authorize or request anyone to set up the auction. You relate that the $101,590 raised from the auction is currently maintained in an account owned by the auction company. You indicate that the organizer of the auction has contacted your client regarding transfer of the funds raised from the auction to him.

Against this backdrop, you ask whether your client may accept the donations to him and his family, and, if so, how your client should disclose his acceptance of the funds.

We will first address whether your client may accept the donations. Where the donations are not being offered to influence your client's official decision making and are not being offered by vendors, lobbyists, or principals of lobbyists of his agency, or by political committees,² we may narrow our focus to a certain provision of Florida's gift law, found in Section 112.3148(8), which states:

Each reporting individual or procurement employee shall file a statement with the Commission on Ethics not later than the last day of each calendar quarter, for the previous calendar quarter, containing a list of gifts which he or she believes to be in excess of $100 in value, if any, accepted by him or her, for which compensation was not provided by the donee to the donor within 90 days of receipt of the gift to reduce the value to $100 or less, except the following:

1. Gifts from relatives.
2. Gifts prohibited by subsection (4) or s. 112.313(4).
3. Gifts otherwise required to be disclosed by this section.

Essentially, this provision requires a reporting individual or a procurement employee to disclose all gifts valued in excess of $100, unless they are otherwise prohibited by other parts of the statute. The disclosure must occur by filing Form 9, "Quarterly Gift Disclosure," by the last day of the calendar quarter following the quarter when the gift was accepted.

² According to your inquiry, based on your client's review of the list of donors, it does not appear that any of them are vendors, lobbyists, or principals of lobbyists of his agency, or by political committees.

Relevant to your inquiry, a "reporting individual" is anyone who is required by law to file financial disclosure, either Form 6, "Full and Public Disclosure of Financial Interests," or Form 1, "Statement of Financial Interests." § 112.3148(2)(d), Fla. Stat.

Section 112.312(12), Florida Statutes, defines the term "gift" as:

that which is accepted by a donee or by another on the donee's behalf, or that which is paid or given to another for or on behalf of a donee, directly, indirectly, or in trust for the donee's benefit or by any other means, for which equal or greater consideration is not given within 90 days...

Based on the facts you present in your inquiry, your client is subject to the gift disclosure requirement because he is, as a current County Property Appraiser, a reporting individual. Your client may accept the monetary donations raised from each winning bid of the auction, as long as neither the donor of a particular item, nor the winning bidder of an item, is a lobbyist, vendor, principal of lobbyists of his agency, or a political committee.³

Your request also asks whether your client may accept anonymous donations. Based on the information you provided, none of the anonymous donations exceeded $100. Thus, your client may accept these donations.⁴ This is distinguishable from CEO 24-5, in which the Commission opined that the reporting individual there could not accept anonymous donations over $100.

⁴ This question implicates Section 112.3148(4), Florida Statutes, which prohibits the acceptance of gifts over $100 from certain donors.

A reporting individual or procurement employee or any other person on his or her behalf is prohibited from knowingly accepting, directly or indirectly, a gift from a vendor doing business with the reporting individual's or procurement employee's agency, a political committee as defined in s. 106.011, or a lobbyist who lobbies the reporting individual's or procurement employee's agency, or directly or indirectly on behalf of the partner, firm, employer, or principal of a lobbyist, if he or she knows or reasonably believes that the gift has a value in excess of $100

To make a proper disclosure on Form 9, your client must disclose, among other things, the value of the gift. The proceeds from each individual auctioned item that are greater than $100 must be disclosed as separate gifts. See CEO 24-5. As a general principle, gifts are valued using the actual cost to the donor, unless the gift law provides for a more specific valuation method. § 112.3148(7)(a), Fla. Stat. We have not previously had the opportunity to opine on how to value monetary donations that were the proceeds of a charitable auction for the benefit of the reporting individual. Therefore, in this instance, we find that the value of each gift for purposes of disclosure is the winning bid amount for the auctioned item, as that is the amount of money that is ultimately being given to your client.

Rule 34-13.400(3) F.A.C., governs how your client should properly disclose the donations he received. Rule 34-13.400(3) F.A.C. states:

(3) The quarterly gift disclosure statement shall include:

(a) A description of the gift, the monetary value of the gift, the name and address of the person making the gift, and the date(s) thereof. If any of these facts, other than the gift description, are unknown or not applicable, the report shall so state.

(b) A copy of any receipt for such gift provided to the reporting individual or procurement employee by the donor.

Thus, your client must disclose a description of the gift (in this case, cash), the monetary value of each winning bid, the name and address of the person making the gift, and the date the gift was accepted.⁵

⁵ The date your client should use for purposes of disclosure is the date that he receives the funds from the auction account, not the date that the item was auctioned off. This is distinguishable from instances where a reporting individual sets up his or her own crowdfunding venture, as he or she would have access to the funds immediately after they are donated. In the case of your client, however, the funds are still with the auction company, and he did not set up the auction and it was not set up at his request or with his knowledge and consent.

Although the value of each monetary gift is the winning bid for the item that was auctioned off, both the winning bidder and the person who put the item up for auction should be disclosed as donors. The rationale behind this is that it takes both the participation of the donor of the auctioned item and the winning bidder for the gift to occur. But for both parties participating in the auction of a particular item, your client would not have received a monetary gift. Although the winning bidder is the person who actually provided the funds that your client will receive, the donor of the auctioned item provided the value to the transaction. This is also in accordance with Rule 34-13.400(7), F.A.C., which states, "Where a gift valued over $100 has been given to a reporting individual or procurement employee by multiple donors, the names and addresses of all persons or entities who contributed to the acquisition of the gift shall be reported, unless unknown."⁶

In your inquiry, you provided Commission staff with two spreadsheets: one showing the donors of each item to be auctioned and one showing the winning bidder for each item. Because your client ultimately received 196 donations (for 196 auctioned items), these spreadsheets are quite voluminous. Your client may comply with the disclosure requirements by attaching these spreadsheets to his Form 9, as they contain the information that is required for proper gift disclosure under Rule 34-13.400(3) F.A.C.⁷

QUESTION 2:

May a County Property Appraiser accept other gifts provided to him and his family, and, if so, how should those gifts be disclosed?

This question is answered as follows.

In your inquiry, you also mention other gifts your client and his family received as a result of the accident. Specifically, you mention that your client's family has taken delivery of two heifers, one from a breeder in Mississippi and the other from a breeder in Texas. You note that these heifers are titled in the name of each of your client's minor daughters, and the cattle lost due to the accident were also titled in their names. By gifting these heifers to your client's daughters, the donors inherently displaced the costs your client would have had to pay to replace the two cattle that were lost as a result of the accident. Due to the nature of these gifts, and the resulting level of responsibility that your client will have in the care and upkeep of these animals for his daughters (providing shelter, food, veterinary care, etc.), these heifers appear to be indirect gifts to your client that he will be required to disclose on a Form 9, assuming these donors are not lobbyists, vendors, principals of a lobbyist of your client's agency, or political committees. In valuing these two gifts, your client should use the cost to the donors of providing these heifers to your client's family. You also note that another individual would like to donate a small bull, but this has not yet occurred. For the same reasons outlined above, if the bull is ultimately donated, your client will have to disclose his acceptance of this bull on a Form 9.

You state that the International Brangus Breeders Association paid for a hotel room for your client and his family for the night of the accident at a cost of $128.64. As lodging is included in the statutory definition of a gift found in Section 112.312(12), Florida Statutes, your client must disclose this on a Form 9, assuming this donor is not a lobbyist, vendor, principal of a lobbyist of your client's agency, or a political committee. The value of the gift is the cost to the donor: $128.64.

You similarly note that a Brangus Cattle dealer, Trademark Genetics, provided airline tickets for your client and his family to travel home after the accident, at a cost of $2,165.84. As transportation is also included in the statutory definition of a gift found in Section 112.312(12), Florida Statutes, your client should also disclose these tickets on a Form 9, once again assuming that this donor is not a lobbyist, vendor, principal of a lobbyist of your client's agency, or a political committee. Although only one of the tickets was for your client, where the gift is given to someone other than a reporting individual with the intent to benefit the reporting individual, the gift is considered an indirect gift to the reporting individual. Thus, your client must disclose the full value of all of the tickets. See CEO 06-27.

You state that a sheriff's deputy allowed your client to use his truck to drive to the hospital, which constitutes a gift to your client. Transportation in a private conveyance is given the same value as transportation provided in a comparable commercial conveyance. This means a similar mode and class of transportation that is available commercially in the community. See Section 112.3148(7)(d), Florida Statutes, as well as Rule 34-13.500 F.A.C. In accordance with this principle, when making his Form 9 disclosure, your client should use the value that he would have paid to rent a car, to hail a taxi, or to hire a rideshare for a similar time and distance traveled.

Your question is answered accordingly.⁸

⁸ There are no facts present in the instant request for guidance that the donations discussed in your inquiry are being provided to your client with the intention of influencing his future official actions as County Property Appraiser, as is prohibited by Sections 112.313(2) and (4), Florida Statutes. However, were such facts to be present, we would caution him to not accept those gifts. If such motivations are present when accepting any funds, we also caution your client that the misuse of office prohibition found in Section 112.313(6), Florida Statutes, and the disproportionate benefit prohibition found in Article II, Section 8(h)(2), Florida Constitution could be implicated.

Ms. Naomi-

1. Yes, Mr. Bandi has looked at both the donor and purchaser lists and compared them with individuals that would qualify as a lobbyist or vendor of his office and did not find any matches.

2. Yes, both daughters are minors.

If you need anything else, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thanks,

Hi Mr. Levy,

I hope you are doing well. As I begin to draft the Ethics Opinion for Mr. Bandi, I have come up with two quick questions regarding his situation:

1. Can you confirm that he looked through both the donor and the purchaser lists and did not see any names that appeared to be lobbyists or vendors of the property appraiser's office?
2. Are Mr. Bandi's daughters his financial dependents?

Thank you for your time.

Re: Request for Informal Written Advisory Opinion

Dear Ms. Stillman:

Please be advised that my office represents Mickey Bandi, in his official capacity as the Okeechobee County Property Appraiser. On behalf of Mr. Bandi, your informal written advisory opinion is requested as to whether any violation of the Code of Ethics would be presented under the below-described factual scenario. See § 112.322(3), Fla. Stat. (2024); Fla. Admin. Code R. 34-6.002 (2024).

Factual Background

Mickey Bandi is the elected property appraiser in Okeechobee County, having initially been elected to office in 2016 and re-elected since that time. This summer, Mr. Bandi, his wife, and two teenage daughters traveled from their home in Okeechobee to participate in a junior livestock show in Waco, Texas. After the show was completed, they began traveling home on the evening of Sunday, June 30, 2024. Outside of Kilgore, Texas they were involved in a tragic accident. A vehicle traveling on the opposite side of the interstate highway at an estimated 93 miles per hour became airborne and crashed into Mr. Bandi's truck and livestock trailer. Mr. Bandi and his family sustained injuries and one of his daughters was airlifted to a nearby hospital. His truck and livestock trailer were totaled, and the livestock had to be "put down" as a result of injuries. Fortunately, Mr. Bandi and his family are in the process of recovering from their injuries and have returned to their jobs and school. Unfortunately, there were fatalities involved with the persons in the other vehicle.

According to Mr. Bandi, the participants in the junior livestock show circuit are a close-knit community in many respects and news of the accident traveled quickly. Within a few days, he became aware that an acquaintance of his from Polk County, whose daughter also participates in livestock shows, had set up an auction site whereby individuals could donate and bid on items to help offset the costs and expenses caused by the accident. The link to the website, which is maintained by GiveSmart, is <https://e.givesmart.com/events/DHq/i/>.

Other livestock breeders offered to provide his family with heifers and a bull to replace the cattle they had lost in the accident. The International Brangus Breeders Association (IBBA) paid for a hotel room for Mr. Bandi and his family the night of the accident at a cost of $128.64. One of the sheriff deputies allowed Mr. Bandi to use his truck to get to the hospital. A Brangus cattle dealer, Trademark Genetics, provided airline tickets for Mr. Bandi and his family to travel home, at a cost of $2,165.84.

The auction site only was “live” for approximately one week and had a closing date of July 15, 2024. A list of the items donated, and amounts paid by buyers, is attached to this letter. (Exhibits #1, #2) The vast majority of individuals donating and/or purchasing items were from Texas. There were two individuals owning property in Okeechobee County that donated items to the auction. There were four donations of $100 and two donations of $50 from individuals described as “anonymous” on the list. From his review of the list of individuals donating and/or purchasing items, Mr. Bandi believes that none would constitute a lobbyist or vendor of the property appraiser’s office as defined in section 112.3148, Florida Statutes (2024). No determination has been made as to whether the six cash donations from anonymous sources were from persons that would be considered lobbyists or vendors, and Mr. Bandi is currently unaware of whether that information could be obtained.

The donations were not sought out by Mr. Bandi and he did not authorize or request anyone to set up the auction. Although he was aware that an auction had been arranged, there were a great many other items requiring his attention in the days after the accident. Likewise, he had not requested assistance from anyone with regard to any of the other donated items. Perhaps the best way to characterize these events is that they reflected a tremendous outpouring of support from the livestock breeding and junior show community in Texas.

When Mr. Bandi received the detailed auction donor and buyer list on August 16, 2024, the amount that had been raised was $101,590. As of the date of this letter, that amount remains in the account of the auction company. Mr. Bandi’s family, however, has taken delivery of two heifers; one from a breeder in Mississippi and the other from a breeder in Texas. These heifers actually are registered or “titled” in the name of each daughter. In a similar manner, the cattle lost due to the accident were titled in the daughters’ names. They obtained possession of those animals on August 5, 2024. Another individual wants to donate a small bull but that has not yet occurred. Again, these individuals would neither be considered lobbyists nor vendors of the property appraiser’s office as defined in section 112.3148 nor are they property owners in Okeechobee County.

Questions Presented

Mr. Bandi has requested an informal opinion of the Ethics Commission regarding the following questions:

1. Whether Mr. Bandi may accept these donations to him and his family that were intended to offset their losses in the accident that occurred on July 7, 2024?
2. Whether Mr. Bandi may accept the donations from the sources listed as anonymous on the auction site and/or what is his responsibility with regard to efforts to ascertain the identity of those anonymous sources?

3. Is Mr. Bandi prohibited from accepting any amount received from the donations of the two individuals from Okeechobee County due to their status as property owners in the county?
4. If Mr. Bandi is allowed to accept all or part of these donations, is he required to disclose the donations as gifts via a Form 9, quarterly gift disclosure. If so, what is the amount that should be reported, the value of the item donated to the auction or the amount paid?

I am hopeful that I have provided sufficient information regarding the material facts underlying this request. If you should require any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,

Loren E. Levy
